

Accident whilst fishing?

Well, obviously we hope you don't come to harm - but if you did then there is up to £2600 compensation to keep the wolf from the door. Terms and conditions apply.

Tackle theft

We all know it happens - so as long as you have taken care and made sure your shed is securely locked - or if your tackle is in the car or your van - that these are also locked - then it's simple - your tackle is covered against theft. Not many home content policies will cover fishing tackle specifically, so if yours doesn't - then this is worth finding out more about, just call us on 0800 848 8448 which is free to call even from your mobile or go online to www.onestop4.co.uk to see and buy Fish2Fly.

Angling abroad? You and your tackle are protected there too.

Fish2Fly can insure your tackle when you are fishing abroad too, just about anywhere in the world in fact - and if you are taking the family along for a holiday whilst you fish, you can insure them too. It costs very little to extend your cover to include our anglers travel insurance. If you have some pre-existing medical conditions we can probably cover these too (an additional premium may be applied) for when you are angling overseas.

insurance protection for anglers

Protecting you and your tackle

Yes that's right! – this is an insurance policy designed for anglers – there's nothing more heartbreaking than having your tackle stolen! And nothing more painful than falling down a river bank and injuring yourself, or worse still, causing damage to someone else (or their property). Angling accidents happen and now there is Fish2Fly to protect you.

Lots of tackle?

We can financially protect up to £15,000 of tackle – sounds a lot, but we know how quickly it all adds up, and if you were to lose it all, then it's expensive to replace. It makes sense to insure what you have, so if it all disappears, you can replace what you have lost.

Fish2Fly can cover between £2,500 and £15,000 of tackle – what you pay is dependent on the amount you need covered. Any single items worth over £250 need to be specified, which takes no time at all either online or over the phone. If you prefer to talk, we do too.
